

Developing Your Detective

Every mystery needs a detective, someone to put all the clues together and crack the case. This worksheet will help you come up with your very own super sleuth and start building the perfect crime for them to solve.

Step 1. Pick two strengths and one weakness

(If you don't see one you like add your own)

Strengths		Weaknesses
Brave	↘	Unconfident
Smart		Over-dramatic
Well-prepared	↙	Stubborn
Athletic		Arrogant
Honest	↘	Picky
Crafty		Clumsy
Determined	↙	Reckless
Friendly		Scared
Compassionate	↘	Vain
_____		_____

Remember, sometimes strengths can become weaknesses and weaknesses can become strengths. It's always satisfying when your detective learns how to use what they think is a weakness to their advantage.

Step 2. Give your detective a Special Skill

What sets your detective apart? Are they a maths-whiz like Alice Jones? Or maybe a photo fanatic who captures a crime on camera? Or a super sniffer who can identify the criminal by their smell? What skill will you give your detective? And what kind of clues will their skill help them find?

My Detective's Special Skill: _____

Clues this skill will help them find: _____
